

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION.

VOL. XXIII.

ATLANTA, GA., SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 23, 1892.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

ROCKWELL'S SEAT

Is Saved to Him by Honest Democratic Votes.

COOKRAN AND FELLOWS BOTH TALK,

And Rally Up the True Friends of Democracy.

CLEVELAND DEMOCRATS ARE AT WORK

Trying to Keep a Lawfully Elected Democrat from Keeping His Seat—Talking About Indiana.

Washington, April 22.—(Special)—Mr. Rockwell retains his seat in the house. It was a close fight and only won after a battle of intense excitement.

The straightforward democrats of the house won the fight over a combination of republicans, mudwumps, third partisans, and rabid cleveland democrats.

Of the democrats who voted against Mr. Rockwell, there were but few who were led to do so by the actual evidence in the case. Mr. Rockwell had decidedly the better side of the case, but there was room for doubt, and many believed Mr. Noyes was elected.

The Action of the Cleveland Men.

There were likewise many others who wanted to believe Mr. Noyes was elected, and forced themselves to do so as the Cleveland-Hill issue had been brought into the fight. If it was a Cleveland-Hill fight, Mr. Hill won a great victory; but it was not. Cleveland and Hill were carried into the fight by Mr. O'Ferrall, and nearly all the democrats who voted against Mr. Rockwell, happened to be Cleveland men, but there were a few anti-Cleveland men on that side, and a few pronounced Cleveland men for Mr. Rockwell. Still Mr. Cleveland's chief boomer attempted to make it such, and in that they failed. The vote declaring Mr. Rockwell elected stood 128 to 106.

The Day's Debate.

The debate over the case today was exciting and lurid. The galleries were crowded as they have not been before this session. That fact was due to the announcement that John R. Fellows, the great New York orator, was to open the debate. Mr. Fellows began shortly after opening, and for an hour and a half kept the close attention of the house. He made a magnificent argument, filled with eloquent and inspiring sentences, and he was repeatedly applauded.

Mr. Fellows's Speech.

Mr. Fellows went on to argue that every one of the sixteen Doyle ballots cast for Noyes was a poster ballot and unofficial; and every one of the twenty-eight marked ballots was an official ballot. The Doyle ballots were in violation of the law because they were poster ballots, and instead of having the names printed as required by law, the names were written in lead pencil. No evidence had been adduced which threw suspicion upon Rockwell and his friends. There was no stain upon his hands. Should the democrats, in order to show the unfairness of the last congress, turn a backward somersault in order to show the country its unbending rectitude? On the democratic side there was a man who had not been accused of the expenditure of dollars—in whose benefit it was not alleged that a single fraudulent ballot had been cast. Against him came a contestant who was not a resident of the district, and who had spent money through his agents until the district was debauched.

Mr. Cookran Concludes.

When Colonel Fellows concluded he yielded fifteen minutes of his time which remained to Bourke Cookran. When he did so Mr. O'Ferrall rose to reach an agreement. General Wheeler, of Alabama, jumped to his feet and cried out something which was not understood. Mr. O'Ferrall became angry at the remarks, and turning to General Wheeler, said, "The gentleman from Alabama is more annoying to the house than mosquitoes in New Jersey."

General Wheeler quickly replied, but there was so much laughter that his remarks were not heard.

Bourke Cookran then went on with his speech in which he appealed to the justice of the democratic party. He declared that Mr. Rockwell was elected, and then criticized Mr. O'Ferrall for getting into republican company.

Mr. Cookran's language was scathing. His oratory was impressive. He minced no words, and his philippic, addressed against the majority report, was very powerful and was received with unanimous applause by his party colleagues.

Mr. Cookran, during the latter part of his remarks, had become warmed up, and the house became intensely interested. It was one of those telling speeches which aroused the enthusiasm of the house and caused every eye to be turned upon Mr. O'Ferrall.

O'Ferrall's Speech.

When the Virginian arose to close the debate, there was fire in his eyes. He first attacked Mr. Cookran and then characterized Mr. Hill as a foxy statesman and Mr. Cleveland as a great lion. He announced he was straightforward for Cleveland. But here is what he said.

He hoped that a calm would succeed the hurricane which had just passed over the house. The speech of the gentleman from New York reminded him of a little story: A belated traveler was journeying over a country road, in the midst of a storm. His horse he guided by the flare of the lightning. But, although the storm was a fierce one, the flashes were infrequent, while peals of thunder were incessant. Finally the wayfarer sent up the invocation, "Oh, Lord, I would like to have a little more light and not quite so much noise." (Long-continented laughter.)

In the course of his remarks Mr. O'Ferrall referred to the criticism that had been made upon his democracy and to his supposed preference to a certain candidate for the presidency. He did have such preference, he said, as was his privilege, and he used a metaphor characterizing Mr. Hill as a fox and Mr. Cleveland as a lion.

The Vote Called.

Then Mr. O'Ferrall moved the previous question. It carried and the first vote was on the resolution declaring Mr. Noyes was not elected. When the roll call commenced there was much excitement. Runners were sent out by both factions to bring in all absentees and nearly every member in the city voted. The resolution carried by 140 to 98, disposing of Mr. Noyes. On this vote forty democrats and the nine third parties, including Colonel Winn, of Georgia, voted with the solid republican side.

The democrats who voted this way with but two exceptions, Mr. Lawson, of Georgia, and Mr. Moore, of Texas, are Cleveland men, or so considered by their colleagues, and they compose nearly every Cleveland man in the house.

The next vote was on the resolution declaring Mr. Rockwell elected. On this the vote stood 128 to 106, the house thereby declaring Mr. Rockwell was elected. On this forty-four democrats and all the third party men voted against Mr. Rockwell, and with the solid republican side. The Cleveland democrats dodged. They were McMillin, Payne and Tracy of New York. Mr. Lockwood was absent, being so, it is said, to keep from voting. Of the Georgia delegation all present except Mr. Lawson, Mr. Winn and Mr. Watson voted for Rockwell. The democrats who voted with the republicans and against their democratic colleague on this vote were: Andrew, Bryan, Buchanan, Bunting, Cable, Cadmus, Canby, Chapman, Coburn, Coddege, Crawford, Crosby, Daniels, DeForrest, Edwards, Forman, Greenleaf, Hall, Hamilton, Hoar, Johnson, Jones, Kilgore, Lawson of Georgia, Little, Long, Martin, Martin, McKain, Miller, Oates, O'Ferrall, Scott, Seelye, Sperry, Stevens, Stewart of Illinois, Stout, Walker of New York, Wheeler of Michigan, White, Wike, Williams of Massachusetts, Moore and Patterson of Ohio. Of these it will be noted that all are Cleveland men except Lawson of Georgia, Oates of Alabama, Moore of Texas and Bryan of Nebraska.

The Action of the Cleveland Men.

There were likewise many others who wanted to believe Mr. Noyes was elected, and forced themselves to do so as the Cleveland-Hill issue had been brought into the fight. If it was a Cleveland-Hill fight, Mr. Hill won a great victory; but it was not. Cleveland and Hill were carried into the fight by Mr. O'Ferrall, and nearly all the democrats who voted against Mr. Rockwell, happened to be Cleveland men, but there were a few anti-Cleveland men on that side, and a few pronounced Cleveland men for Mr. Rockwell. Still Mr. Cleveland's chief boomer attempted to make it such, and in that they failed. The vote declaring Mr. Rockwell elected stood 128 to 106.

Mr. Harman said yesterday that whenever the Georgia, Carolina and Northern gets to the depot it can run in or at least have the use of the tracks on the south side of the building. There is no disposition on the part of the Western and Atlantic, the Central, the Atlanta and West Point or the Georgia road to keep the Georgia, Carolina and Northern out of the depot building. The Georgia road does not want to give up any part of its right of way to the depot. Mr. Harman says that for the general interest of Atlanta the Seaboard shall be allowed to enter the depot whenever it gets to Loyd street. The Western and Atlantic owns the ground on which the depot stands and all the tracks in the depot building.

THE SHOPS OF THE TECH.

They Will Be Re-Established with but Little Delay.

The shops of the Technological school which were recently burned will be re-established for the present in the old Atlanta bridge works building.

They are obliged to continue in operation with as little delay as possible on account of the many contracts of the mechanical department of the school. These contracts will be run through as quickly as possible.

The superintendents of the school, Mr. Cassidy, said yesterday that he would begin work on Monday. A large force of hands is at the bridge works getting things in good shape so as to begin work at the time above stated.

In the new quarters the department will only receive orders such as it can readily fill. Some of the fires which destroyed the handsome building, however, were caused by pieces of wood work were burned up, as were also two-horse power dynamo, one very fine piano and some other gear which was intended as an exhibit of the school's work at the world's fair.

Mr. Cassidy says that nothing can be done toward rebuilding the shops until the trustees meet. He is naturally very anxious for the work to begin.

AMERICAN INVENTIONS IN INDIA.

Something of Interest to all Americans.

A Calcutta letter says that American inventions and discoveries are fast displacing the older ones of English manufacture in the Indian Empire. Thus, a few years ago, the American telephones and telegraphs were entirely unknown, when now there are over 10,000. The American telephone has been introduced in most of the large cities. Stranger than all, the old-fashioned, huge pills are fast giving way to Dr. Price's "Glasgow Pellets," or "P. P. F." which were first invented in London some years ago by their American proprietors. Every Englishman who enjoys good eating, must have his dinner-pill, and it is not unusual to see distinguished persons draw from their waistcoats a tiny little vial of these Pellets.

After taking one you feel well, instead of bilious and constipated; your sick headache, dizziness and indigestion are gone. It's done, simple, quick, but safe. These are tiny, smooth, round, white pills. One Pellet's laxative three to four are cathartic. They regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels—quickly, but thoroughly. They are guaranteed to give satisfaction.

The Greatest Things in the World.

This is the title of a volume just published by the Henry Bill Publishing Company, of New Haven, Conn. It is a compendium of natural, grand, and great events, and man's mightiest achievements, embracing literature, music, painting, architecture, history, chronology, science, religion, philosophy, biography, sociology, engineering, etc.

This is one of the most complete works ever compiled. It is edited by Henry Bill and Henry Frederick Reddall. The editors are men of well-known literary ability. The work they have done in the "People's Cyclopedias," as well as in their "Great Events," well qualifies them for this undertaking. The work is beautifully illustrated, containing about two hundred fine line engravings. From a clear description of the tool work, one can plainly see that pains and expense have not been spared to make it complete in every detail. A great work, and it will be useful in the libraries of every person in this country.

The Henry Bill Publishing Company, Norwalk, Conn., desire first-class agents to sell their great book throughout the country. Write to them and perhaps you can make a good connection.

A Genuine Treat.

Is in store for every one who uses Hoyt's Jersey Butter, beyond all doubt the best butter ever brought to Atlanta; uniformly in grade, richness of flavor and absolute purity, and its qualities are to be found in every dairy, in the blue grass country and hence, always uniform; always of that due, rich, buttery, white blue grass flavor, imparts to butter, taste.

We put it in every box, and it is the best butter in the market.

CAMP NORTHERN,

Where the Young Soldiers of Georgia
Will Meet.

A CHARMING AND MODEL SPOT

Upon Which Training in Military Tactics May Be Gained.

THE APPROACHES TO THE GROUNDS,

And the Preparations Which Have Been Made to Make Them the Best in the Whole Country.

Griffin, Ga., April 21.—(Special)—Camp Northern!

This is where Georgia's pride and the flower of southern chivalry will bivouac this year.

It is a lovely place, viewed from an artistic standpoint, and a fitting abode of the gallant whelps gazed upon from historical eminence.

Camp Northern, as every one in the south now knows, is situated at Griffin, Ga., which has become famous to its healthy climate, its attractive surroundings, its fruits and flowers which has attained for this section the title of "The Garden Spot," and it is not wholly undeserved, for with an elevation of 1,152 feet above the sea level and its undulating lands, it has become popular by reason of its natural attractions and gained probably more notoriety by having secured the permanent state military encampment over its powerful rivals than by any other achievement. It was a hard struggle to compete with the powerful capital and advantages that were brought to bear on the town, but she won and liberal competitors warmly congratulate the "Plucky City."

It was just, too, that they who composed the encampment committee of the state advisory board should have located the troops here, for the reason that it is a central location with good pure water and in easy means of reach for the public.

The Artistic Features.

The artistic portions of the site can be judged by the illustrations that accompany this article, which were taken especially for The Constitution by Mitchell & Ballard.

The historical part can only be gathered from those who lived and were over a quarter of a century ago. It was once the camping grounds of one of Georgia's most gallant regiments—the Second Georgia, which was commanded by Colonel Lawton, who held sway over one of the finest bodies of men that took part in the late war. To make room for their training ground the present drill and parade ground were cleared and the spring, which is shown in the illustration gave drinking water to the thirsty "confederates," while the brook slaked the thirst of their horses. This was early in '62, and from Captain Ison, who was captain commanding Company E, known as the "Ben Milner" dragoons, we get the inloungers during the daytime and a charming place for the young people to gather at night as it is outside the restricted lines and probably will be the scene of many a tender "passage at arms." Leaving the spring the next view shows the boulevard leading to the camp grounds which cannot properly be appreciated from a sketch. This boulevard is a continuous two miles and is thirty feet in width, perfectly graded and makes one of the prettiest drives that can be found around any city. From it you can see the famous Pine mountains in all their verdant glory and obtain a satisfactory view of all the surrounding country. The groves that they lead to are cool and inviting, and it is here that the soldiers will pitch their tents and no matter how high mercury may fall the glass Camp Northern will enjoy spring breezes.

The Parade Ground.

The parade ground contains fifty acres and has been dug down, filled up, plowed over and rolled until it is level and hard, making a fine smooth surface for military maneuvers that could be wished for and it will be the scene of the tents of the troops which are back in the grove just behind where they can command a good view. There will be twenty rows of tents, ten in each row, capable of accommodating each four men and supply quarters for 400 officers. All the tents will be encamped here at one time. While the tents have not been put up yet they will prove that the scenery is even prettier than it can be described by their addition. The grounds are to be placed so as to give the soldiers more room to move about and were every soldier an artist this would prove to him a modern Arcadia.

The Swimming Pool.

At the extreme southern limit of the encampment grounds is the "swimming pool," which has been built with ample dimensions for those who will be drawn in running water. It will be great attraction to the soldier boys, as the water comes direct from the spring that feeds the waterworks and is as pure and as clear as the mountains of nature can supply. This pool tears itself continuously about eight minutes after you have gotten out of it, and if you will wait there you will find that it is still there that you were in remains but it is entirely filled with water fresh from the spring. While at this end of the camp ground you can get a splendid view of "Miller's Hall," the programme of the encampment has been arranged for May 24th to arrive.

Big Day on the 24th.

In the meantime the citizens are busily engaged in preparing the grounds for the big day, and while their efforts are not yet completed it is characteristic of their prudence never to promise more than can surely accomplish. The committee met on the 19th instant and adjourned to meet again on Monday when more definite action will be taken to regularize the arrangements. As indicated, however, we can safely say that when Governor Northern, his staff and the gentlemen of the advisory board arrive in Griffin, they will be warmly welcomed. The programme of the encampment has been arranged for May 24th to arrive.

LINE OF MARCH.

Broad to Alabama, Alabama to Whitehall, Whitehall to Hunter, Hunter to cemetery. When the veterans arrive at the cemetery the procession will halt—the veterans assembling around it. The artillery will proceed to the hill beyond as usual, and at a signal from the commander of the association fire a salute.

DECORATION OF GRAVES.

ARTILLERY SALUTE.

SPECIAL ORDER—All carriages except those containing the Ladies' Memorial Association, military, government officials, mayor and general council will be admitted on the grounds, and no person will be admitted on the base of the monument except the above-named association and committee of the Confederate Veterans Association and band. By order of the president and commander.

HEADQUARTERS CONFEDERATE VETERANS ASSOCIATION, Atlanta, Ga., April 22, 1892.—The members of the association and all other Confederate veterans who desire to participate in the memorial exercises will assemble at the Confederate hall, on Broad street, on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to form and join the procession. Bands will be worn.

LIEUTENANT COLONEL CALHOUN, Adjutant.

A COMMITTEE FROM THE CONFEDERATE VETERANS' ASSOCIATION HAVE ADDRESSED COMMUNICATIONS TO ALL OF THE DIFFERENT ORGANIZATIONS THROUGHOUT THE CITY, BOTH SECRET AND OTHERWISE, THAT THEY KNEW OF, ASKING THEM TO JOIN THE CONFEDERATE VETERANS AND THE LADIES' MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION IN THE STREET PARADE AND THE MEMORIAL EXERCISES AT OAKLAND CEMETERY, BUT FEARING THAT THE COMMITTEE MIGHT HAVE UNINTENTIONALLY OVER-

LOOKING EAST.

WHICH IS THE HOUSE OF COLONEL B. M. MILNER, FOR WHOM THE "BEN MILNER DRAGOONS" WERE NAMED, AND WHICH IS ONLY A FEW FEET OFF.

IT ALMOST APPEARS LIKE A VILLAGE AND, IN FACT, THE SCENE WOULD DO CREDIT TO A SMALL-SIZED VILLAGE, WITH ITS WHITE HOUSES, CULTIVATED GARDENS AND AIR OF GENTRY PROPERLY.

THESE ARE THE HIGHLIGHTS OF THOSE HIGHLIGHTS TO BE FOUND IN THE OLD COUNTRY, AS FOR MR. MITCHELL, THE ARTIST, SAYS, "IT'S PRETTY ENOUGH FOR ANYTHING."

THE RIFLE RANGE IS A PLAIN THAT WILL SICKLE THE PALETS OF EVERY MAN THAT COMES WITH THE RIFLE.

THE IRVING PEOPLE WHO DO NOT UNDERSTAND THE REQUIREMENTS OF POSITION, ETC., SPEAK OF IT ENTHUSIASTICALLY.

IT HAS BEEN UNDERSTOOD THAT ONE GREAT OBJECTION TO THIS SITE WAS MADE BY A MEMBER OF THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE THAT WE COULD NOT GIVE A RIFLE.

DO YOU THINK THE GROUNDS WILL BE ACCEPTABLE?

"WHAT DO YOU THINK THE COST OF THE GROUNDS WILL BE AND THEIR VALUE?"

"AS TO THE COST, IT IS CONSIDERABLE. FIRST THE OWNERSHIP OF THE LAND IS TEN ACRES AND TEN ACRES OF LAND IS WORTH AND WOULD BRING FULL $6,000; THE LABOR OF CLEARING, GRADING, ROAD BUILDING, ETC., COST NOT LESS THAN $4,000; THE BUILDING COST ABOUT $4,000; THE PIPES AND PLUMBING TO FURNISH WATER ON THE GROUNDS, POLE AND WIRE FOR TELEGRAPH, LIGHT AND SWIMMING POOL WILL COST A LARGE AMOUNT. NOW WHEN YOU REMEMBER THAT WE ARE TO FURNISH LIGHTS AND WATER FREE OF CHARGE, YOU CAN READILY SEE THAT THE ENCAMPMENT WILL COST US $18,000 TO $20,000."

"DO YOU THINK THIS ENCAMPMENT WILL PAY GRASS-ROOTS LEAVES?"

"THAT DEPENDS largely UPON THE GOOD FAITH OF THE FUTURE ADVISORY BOARDS, AND THE LEGISLATURE OF GEORGIA. IF THE ENCAMPMENT IS CONTINUED HERE PERMANENTLY AND IS FAIRLY SUPPORTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE, AS IT SHOULD BE, THE MILITARY AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES OF GEORGIA WILL BECOME 'THE THING OF BEAUTY' AND A SHRIE AT WHICH PATRIOTIC GEORGIA WILL LOVE TO CONGREGATE. IF THIS IS TRUE OUR CITY WILL BE GREATLY BENEFITED BOTH FINANCIALLY AND SOCIALLY BY THE LARGE NUMBER OF PERSONS WHO WILL VISIT THE ENCAMPMENT EVERY SUMMER. THE MILITARY WILL BE ENCOURAGED. THERE IS WISDOM IN THE OLD ADAGE, 'TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR WAR.'

COLONEL KINCRAFT IS VERY CONSERVATIVE AND HIS MEANING MAY BE ACCEPTED AS STRICTLY PURE."

THE BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

MAYOR JAMES A. STEWART HAS BEEN APPOINTED COMMISSIONER OF THE BUREAU OF INFORMATION AND ALL LETTERS ADDRESSED TO HIM IN REGARD TO BOARD AND LODGING WILL RECEIVE AS PROMPT A REPLY AS HE CAN GIVE.

IN AN IRON CAGE,

Dr. J. F. Hammond Is Locked Up,
Raving Mad.

HE CURSES GOD AND RELIGION,
And he was at the top of His voice continually—Carried Before the Ordinary for Examination.

It was the iron cage, in which Steve Ryan spent the first night of his imprisonment in the county jail, a man spent yesterday afternoon and last night raving and tearing his hair in a frenzy of madness.

As he tore at the bars, stamped on the floor and screamed in a powerful voice, he seen possessed of superhuman strength.

The man is well known in Atlanta, having for years been a practicing physician here.

His name is Dr. J. F. Hammond, and at the mention of it many will recall having seen his face on the streets.

Dr. Hammond has been in Atlanta for several years, coming here originally from South Carolina. He is quite a scholarly gentleman, speaking several languages fluently.

He is a hard student of the Bible and his insanity is of a religious turn. He has drank a great deal, which has completely unlocked his mind.

A few days ago he became violent, but his family managed to keep him quiet and to prevent him from doing any harm. They were all the time in fear that he would grow desperate and hurt some one.

Night before last he grew noticeably worse. His insanity became more pronounced and he continually threatened to do violence to those about him. He was extremely noisy, raving all the while.

Yesterday morning application was made by his family to Ordinary Calhoun to commit the unfortunate man to the asylum. They stated that he was dangerous and should be confined.

A deputy sheriff was sent out to Dr.
Hammond's home and after much trouble succeeded in carrying him to the courthouse.

A glance at the man was sufficient to show that he was insane, and Ordinary Calhoun committed the physician to jail.

At the jail Dr. Hammond's violence increased and it took two or three men to manage him. So unmanageable was he that it was thought best to put him in the iron-bound cage, up stairs, in which Steve Ryan was once confined.

Once inside the jail, the crazy man stormed and yelled in the most deafening manner.

He was under the impression that his imprisonment had been effected by the Catholic church because his people were Baptists and Methodists.

He filled the entire jail with the most blasphemous curses, cursing God and all religious denominations.

"It was a God," he screamed, "I would be a God! I wouldn't have made such a miserable, sorry world as this. I wouldn't have made a world full of hospitals and graveyards, and jails, with a few little churches in it."

Then he would launch off into a long diatribe of abuse against all the Christian religion, with great familiarity with the early history of Christianity.

His loud cries attracted a great crowd,
who watched the frenzied man curiously.

Among the spectators was Steve Ryan,
and as the mad doctor would pound the floor
with his feet, superhuman strength, Ryan tried to pacify him.

"Doctor," said he, "don't kick that way.
We are going to have a German down here tonight, and that kicking will make your feet so sore you won't be able to stand."

Hoodless of Ryan, hoodless of all things,
the madman continued.

Proceedings Yesterday.

Arguments were heard in the following cases of the Atlanta circuit.

Richmond and Danville Railroad Co. v.
Jefferson Jackson & Jackson, for plaintiff in error. Thomas Strickland and Alexander Lambdin, contra.

Richmond and Danville Railroad Co. v.
Allison, Jackson & Jackson and Emmett Womack, for plaintiff in error. Hoke & in error. John L. Hopkins & Son, contra.

Arnold v. Barnett, Arnold & Arnold,
by brief, for plaintiff in error. Bigby, Reed & Rose, contra.

Werner v. Rawson, Candler & Thomas,
for plaintiff in error. Hall & Hammond, contra.

The court denied a request from the solicitor general, assented to by the comsel for the plaintiff in error, that the hearing of certain criminal cases which will be set for trial next week should be delayed until April 25, this date being after the date postponed, under rule 45 of this court, to be postponed to the heel of the circuit to which they belong; announcing that the policy of the act of 1891 for the speedy determination of criminal cases will be carried out by adhering to the rule, and that where such a motion is made by brief, showing no additional argument be deemed proper it will be ordered.

Adjourned till Friday morning at 11 o'clock. No arguments will be heard next week, save in two cases already set for that time.

The 6th instant, received a petition
of the peach and grape growers' petition, came duly to hand.

The petition was introduced at the recent session of the rate committee, and the committee concluded that for the present no change in the rates should be made;
but a large number of melon and grape
growers are members of the association which are members of the railroad.

The reason advanced is that it is difficult to determine what would be the result in the event of any further deduction, and the committee, which is the best authority on the subject, believes that the industry should be encouraged, as far as possible, to have taken steps to meet your views
but for the unfavorable financial conditions which surround many of the railroads represented on the committee. Yours truly,
E. B. STAHLMAN
Commissioner.

The Reasons Advanced.

In another letter Commissioner Stahlman sets forth the following reasons for the action of the association:

New York, April 18.—W. R. Roddenberry,
Secretary, Melon Committee, Cairo, Ga.
Dear Sir: In further response to your letter of the 29th ultimo, enclosing a petition from the melon and grape growers of Georgia, the 6th instant, concerning a petition of the peach and grape growers' petition,
I enclose herewith a copy of the petition
as it stands now.

The petition was introduced at the recent session of the rate committee, and the committee concluded that for the present no change in the rates should be made;

but a large number of melon and grape
growers are members of the railroad.

This conclusion was largely due to the fact,
that the matter came up for consideration at the session of the committee, there were not a majority of melon and grape pro and con arguments for and against reduction, but it was finally agreed that no change in the rate committee should be made.

The conclusion was largely due to the fact,
that the majority of the committee are sufficiently low.

3. That the growth and development of the melon and grape market without regard to quality or quantity, which glut and depress prices at such markets, inflicts greater injury upon the melon growers than upon the growers of other crops, and that the condition of transportation rates (even if the railroads could afford to make them), would overcome any benefit to the melon growers which would result from a reduction of rates.

This conclusion was largely due to the fact,
that the melon growers are sufficiently low.

4. That the melon and grape market
is not a market of its own, but is a market of the whole country.

5. That the melon and grape market
is not a market of its own, but is a market of the whole country.

UNIVERSITY CLUBS.

A Grand Movement Afoot for the University of Georgia.

HON. P. W. MELDRIM TALKS ABOUT IT.

Savannah Has a Flourishing University Club—Atlanta College Men to Meet on the First of May.

It is a cold, raw day in midsummer when Hon. Peter W. Meldrim, of Savannah, is not ready to do some good work for the University of Georgia and for higher education generally.

He is now at work on a most happy and a most commendable movement, that of organizing the university men of the state. It is no small idea that Mr. Meldrim has conceived, and when it has reached that maturity that it deserves and that it surely will attain if so energetic a man as Mr. Meldrim continues at the head of it, there is certain to be great results.

Briefly stated, here is Mr. Meldrim's plan.

First, to have organized in every city and town in Georgia a university club.

Second, to have a central committee appointed as a kind of executive committee representing all of the clubs thus to form a state organization.

Third, to require that these clubs hold meetings quarterly during the year.

The great purpose of this organization of university men is to promote the interest of the cherished University of Georgia, and to cultivate good fellowship among the men who received their education within her walls. In short, it is desired to have the general state organization based on just such a plan as that upon which the Savannah University Club has been so happily and so successfully founded.

Warrants Sworn Out.

Warrants have been sworn out by Colonel Thomas J. Loveless, one of the proprietors of the Loveless hotel for the arrest of Asbury and George Gentry, alias of Hon. G. W. Gentry, of near Buchanan, as principals of the crime. It is understood that the Gentrys had every thing to buy soon dynamite at Tallapoosa the evening before the explosion that night, and this coupled with other things caused the warrants to be sworn out. The Gentrys have not been arrested yet, but a number of men have been arrested, and a number of them believe the Gentrys clear of all their crimes, while there are a host of others who declare them the guilty parties, and some go so far as to say that Haralson county may have a real lynching if they are apprehended.

As to Detective Tripp.

It seems that the effort is to get rid of a detective named Tripp, who has been stopping at Buchanan, for some months working up some criminal trials that have been committed there. First, three horses were stolen from his stable and kept for some time, but owing to Tripp's watch they could not get out of the county, and they were turned loose. The next night, or about that time, five stores were broken into in Buchanan, to be found incendiary origin. Carrollton had been broken into some of these crimes, so the next night after Buchanan's blaze, Carrollton had an incendiary fire, and J. A. Rhudy had a fine horse stolen. Jim Hewitt, Carroll's vigilant sheriff, caught George Gentry at Jasper, Ala., with Rhudy's horse, a few months later.

Putting in Good Work.

In the meantime, Tripp was putting in his work at Buchanan, assisted by John L. Head, a son of the Hon. W. J. Head. Head and Tripp were shot at several times, and Asbury Gentry was bound over to the super court, charged with trying to assassinate Head and Tripp. Next, the old and peculiar Richard Byrne was killed and robbed, and Detective Tripp had Asbury Gentry arrested for this crime. On a preliminary trial Gentry was found loose, but considerable indignation existed at the action of the justice trying the case. The next we hear of is an explosion that shook Buchanan center to circumference.

Where will it stop is a question that is being asked by many Haralson county people.

Is the manner in which Mrs. M. A. Peeler, an estimable lady of Morganville, N. C., expresses her appreciation of Swift's Specific?

Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has been a blessing to me. Afflicted with rheumatism and female weakness for a number of years, during which time I took a great deal of medicine, nothing giving me relief but Swift's Specific (S. S. S.). What I suffered and endured before commencing on Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) is painful to even think about; but after taking that medicine I got well, and have continued to enjoy the best health since. I cannot say more than I believe in the praise of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.).

After using a number of bottles of Swift's Specific the disease entirely disappeared.

HARALSON HARASSED

By the Disorderly Element in Her Midst.

THE STORY OF THE LATE EXPLOSION

Shows It to Have Been the Outcome of a Feud Between Order and Disorder—The Particulars.

Carrollton, Ga., April 22.—(Special)—The people of Buchanan, Haralson county, are terror-stricken, or at least, a number of them are that way. If Cole Younger, Jesse or Frank James or Hub Burrows were turned loose in our country there would not be much more excitement.

Looking Into the Story.

Your correspondent talked with twelve men who said they were actually afraid to go out in the woods alone in the day or stay out at night for fear of being shot or otherwise roughly dealt with. The Constitution has announced the explosion of dynamite under the Loveless hotel, and it is that last act of outlawry that has terror-stricken the good people of Haralson, and more especially those of Buchanan.

Briefly stated, here is Mr. Meldrim's plan.

First, to have organized in every city and town in Georgia a university club.

Second, to have a central committee appointed as a kind of executive committee representing all of the clubs thus to form a state organization.

Third, to require that these clubs hold meetings quarterly during the year.
